Among Us Takeover

The materials I used are paint, Sharpie, and pencil. Something that inspired me to make this artwork is a popular game named Among Us. One challenge that I overcame was putting the action color black but I realized that it wouldn't look right because the background is already black, so I changed it to white. I learned that if I really have a vision of what I want to do, I just need the time and effort to do it and I'll get it done. I want people to just look and admire my artwork.

The Rainy Turkey

For this art piece I used colored pencils, and regular pencils. This morning it looked like it was supposed to rain, therefore I used that as inspiration for my art. My color choice was at random. I just thought these would look nice together. I am really proud of how the final product looked.

Among US

The materials I used were paper, water colors, and paint brushes. I wanted to create something fun and different. The challenge was trying to finish. I will be sending you a picture of the finished product, but I was able to get the actual hand done. I learned I should branch out and use my watercolors more often. I want people to know that I am more than just academics with this fun artwork.

The Unknown

The materials that I used are a pencil, and colored pencils. Something that I learned from creating this artwork was a little of how to do ombre/blend in my colors. Something that I want people to know about my work is that the girl in the image is a black girl and the colors “behind her” is inspired by the thanksgiving colors. One challenge was figuring out what I was going to create..I overcame this challenge by doing research.

I used pencil and paper. I was inspired by a way that people release their anger by writing all of their problems on a plate and smashing it. I didn't have any challenges. I learned nothing new. I want people to know that it's okay to feel these things but remember to let go.

I used paint, my finger, color pencils, markers, and a sharpie to complete this artwork.. What inspired me was an art picture I saw. The challenge I had to face was was keeping up with the paint mess. What I learned was that you can use all types of color for any art.. What i want people to know is that you can do anything with your imagination.

I used a sketchpad on my computer. I was on the Internet and I saw color turkey handprints with nice backgrounds which inspired me to make this artwork. A challenge that I had making this artwork was the hand but I overcame it by not giving up and trying my best. I learned how to make a Turkey hand online. I want people to know that this took a lot of dedication and it took a long time.

I used sharpie marker. I had seen a photo on pinterest of a swan and it had inspired me to do this artwork. The challenge was getting the things right and going over it with a sharpie marker. I learned that you can turn an ordinary picture into a cute fun project. I want people to know that I am creative and I can see many things in ordinary pieces and more.

Turkey Hand

Materials I used were my hand, orange, brown, black, yellow, & green Markers and Paper. What inspired me to create this artwork was the colors that are considered “Thanksgiving Themed”. Instantly, I thought of Brown, Yellow, Orange and Green. I could have used red but I didn’t want to be so traditional. This wasn’t my best turkey hand but I’m proud of the outcome.

The materials I used for my turkey were, pencils, markers, and colored pencils. One thing that inspired me was trying to challenge myself, I took a minute or less to find and materials I needed and used whatever I had, this helped me become more creative and open minded to all new ideas. I learned that even though you might not consider yourself an artist or good at art you can proceed and grow into it. I would like people to know that using what you have should not be a struggle moment but, a very high peek in your art career.

For this piece of artwork I used sketch Paper, a pencil, Twin Art Sketch Markers, and sharpies. I was inspired by Thanksgiving, super mario, and Roller skates to create this piece of artwork. A challenge that I encountered was creating the Mario and the Luigi hats. But I over came those challenges by looking up original pictures and paying attention to details. I learned that combining different elements and colors you can create a beautiful art piece. I want people to know that you can create many things out of just a hand.

I used markers, pencil and a sharpie. What inspired me about my artwork was that I made a hand out of a turkey and I thought it was cool. I came up with a turkey inside of a video game and the two turtles are trying to chase the turkey. I learned from creating this artwork that making something out of a hand is very cool. I want people to know about my work. I worked hard.

Tree Turkey

By: Jasolyn S. - King

I used pencils, fill, and paint to create this artwork. A challenge was trying to get inspiration to create this artwork but I thought about something I did in Kindergarten which was make a family tree. I learned while working on this artwork that it is hard to incorporate a turkey or any animal into a picture of daily life. I want people to know that this artwork is meant to be like a thankful tree since turkey is Thanksgiving.

The materials that I used were pencils and colored pencils. What inspired me to create this artwork is the American flag. No, I didn't really have a challenge. What I learned is that not everything has to look perfect.

The materials I used was makers and a pencil. What inspired me to did is because I wanted to give it a glow in the dark theme because the background of the hand is black. A challenge I had was deciding were am I gonna put all the colors because it only has 5 fingers. I overcame it by putting multiple colors on each hand.. I learned from this project is you can be creative in many different ways. I want people to know about my artwork is that.

The materials that I used were pencil, and paint. What inspired me to do this artwork was to get a good grade. The challenge that i overcome is i can't draw very well so i let stay and continued. What I learned from my artwork is that it look not that bad when you try. What I want people to know about my art is that I work hard.

Turkey hand

I used a outline of my hand, and color pencils and sharpies. A challenge was trying to see if I wanted a theme along with trees or keep it plains with a blue sky. I learned that as long as you work hard on something, it will become beautiful. I want other people to know all work is beautiful if you really put your hard work and effort into it,

Kevin H King

The turkey hand I drew had three turkeys on it with a beautiful sun and sky. The turkeys were about to go to a Christmas party and the turkeys hear something. It was the farmer saying "I am going to eat you for Christmas dinner". Then all the turkeys start running for their lives.

I used sharpies and crayons and I saw some ideas on the internet. I had no challenges and this was very fun.

In this project I used markers. Something that inspired me to do this project was my imagination. A challenge that I had to go through was making the turkey's hat and I overcame it by outlining before I drew it. I learned that I can be an artist and succeed too and I also want people to know that it's my work because sometimes people steal artwork.

My Turkey Hand

I used the pastel crayons and watercolor paint. What inspired me to do this artwork was virtual learning. I messed on tracing my thumb but then I decided to free draw it. I learned that a turkey can do anything they want. I want people to know that I had fun with this.

Nyla T.
