Surgical Masks Recreated

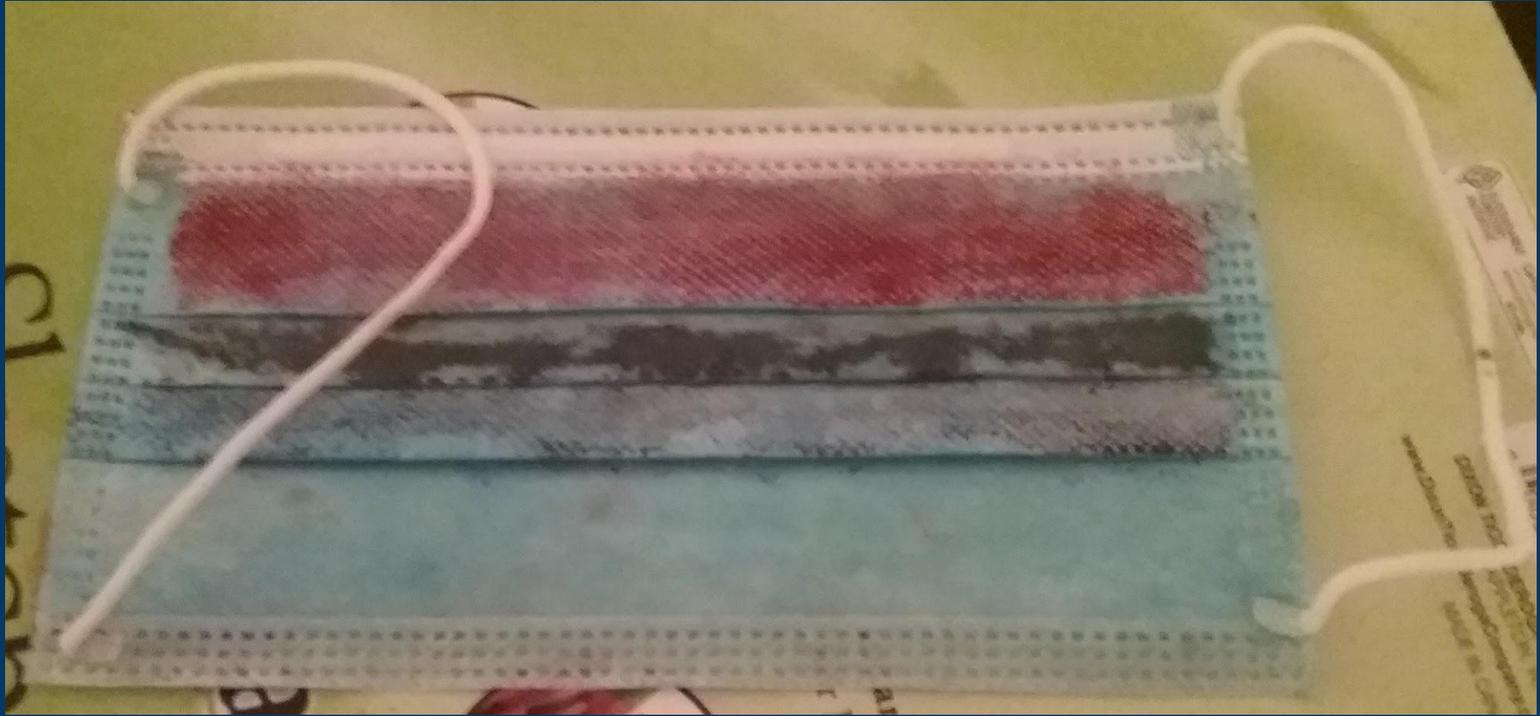

Scholars designed surgical masks
using art materials of their choice.

Mask Project - A Good Day on a Bad Day

For this project I used paint. Something that inspired me was a bad day so I turned it into a good one. A challenge was getting the water paint on so I used the other paint instead. Something I learned is that flowers are hard to draw. I want people to know that there is always something good at the end of the rainbow.

Among Us

I used paint, a mask and markers. I used the mask, the draw on the paint to make it colorful and the markers to outline the drawing. I did not have any trouble cause it was easy for me. I used google to search what i was going to draw. I learned that I am A better drawer than I think I am. I want people to know that my drawing is based on a game called "Among Us"

A Colorful Protection

The materials I used were a surgical mask, acrylic paint, water and a paintbrush. Once I saw a multicolored mask and it inspired me to make one myself. A challenge that I faced was to make the colors from the paint pigmented enough, but I was able to bring the colors out. From this I learned how to have a steady hand. This artwork took a lot of efforts and a little bit of time.

Ayla R.
Team Staha

Mix of Colors

I used all sorts of paint to create this art. what inspired me with this artwork is just using lots of color. the challenge I had to face was the choice of color. what I learned from this artwork is to always have different perspectives of things. what I want people to know about my artwork is how it gives you an insight of difference in an art way.

Hauwa A.

Polka Dots

The materials used was paint and some markers. I made the polka dots because those are suppose to be little viruses and the mask is suppose to protect you from them. I learn how to mix paint properly. I want people to learn how mask are used.

Juah A.
Team Staha

For this assignment i used a face mask, a q tip, white paint and pink paint. The game among us inspired me to create this artwork. The only challenge that i faced was space. I didn't have enough space to put the words. I learned that anything is possible. I want people to know that this mask was inspired by a game.

Qua'Wi R.

This is my new mask I love it so much because of all the colors. I used pastel crayons on this mask. Something that I have learned is masks has become my everyday thing and I always use them. I want people to know that I work hard on my work and I love them exactly how they are.

Surgical Mask recreated

Materials I used were acrylic paint and an acrylic paint paintbrush. What inspired me to create this artwork was the colors itself. I combined them and made pastel colors. I learned how to cover up dark mistakes as well as how to combine colors. I want people to know I did this in one day and even though it was a challenge it came out satisfactory.

Xaria P.

For this drawing what i decided to do was kind of make it ironic. Its a mask and what i decided to draw on it was covid in the air. I thought it would really make the mask a lot better because it's literally the reason we are wearing them. So it was some joke that i thought of in the process.

Black Lives Matter

I drew this on my mask because BLM is a know topic today in 2020. I decided to but BLM on this mask because all of my family is apart of BLM. BLM is very important because black people are being killed every day.

The Mask of Link

I used a simple blue surgeon mask and then I used acrylic paint to draw out the letter. I used 2 different colors to make purple then I made the letter in a yellow and purple pattern. The idea came to me from a simple lighting bolt.

For my face mask I used my paintbrush and italic paint to make it. I kind of didn't exactly have inspiration but I did have a random idea pop up in my head that helped me proceed throughout my art work. The only challenge I kind of had to face was making sure I left no empty polka dots or unfinished polka dots. I learned that there is a way to be more creative but it's what you put your mind to and actually believe you can do. I would like people to know that even though things seem simple its the hard work you put in and not the thoughts on your work.

Shoe Design

Our Scholars became shoe designers in this art lesson.

A Conversed Converse

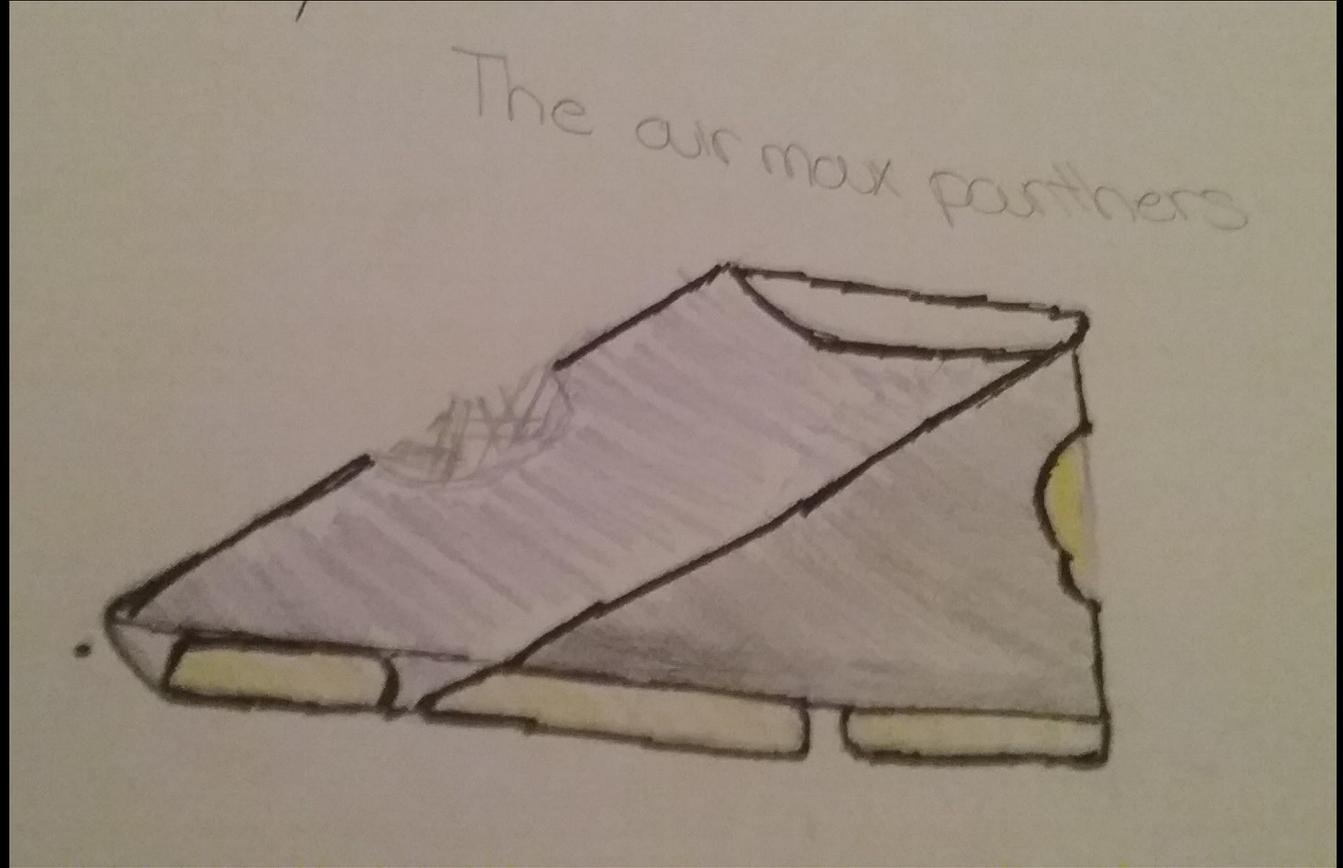

The materials I used were a pencil, an eraser, my sketchpad, a sharpie and colored pencils. The video of someone sketching out converse sneakers inspired me to make this artwork. This piece of artwork was a bit of a challenge because I had difficulties drawing the lines correctly. I learned how to trace well. The color scheme in this artwork was hard to put together.

The materials that I used were my sketch book, a pencil & colored pencils. I saw a picture on pinterest and it inspired me to draw this. The challenge was the shoelaces but I overcame it because I had to try and not give up. I learned how to draw a shoe. I want people to know that this took a long time to do and that I tried my very best.

Alexis D.
Team Staha

I used marker, color pencil, and pencil. I was inspired by Lebron 16 lows. The challenge was making it look like I wanted it. I learned that art is hard. I want people to know that this drawing took a lot of time and effort.

The Shoe of Justice

Alisha L.
Team Staha

For this project I used my pencils to draw the shoe first then I used sharpies to trace it and I colored it with markers. Something that inspired me to do this shoe is all of the police brutality going on and all of the racism. Something that was a little challenging was the original color of the shoe had black on black so I had to figure out how to do that without them blending so instead I used the name of all of the black people that suffered from police brutality. Something that I learned from this project is that there are no mistakes in art you can always fix what you want by just adding on where needed. Something I want people to know about this is that it is very important that they are aware of what is happening around us.

Messy Shoe

I used paint a sharpie and a pencil to achieve thesis art work.what inspired me for this artwork was my last project(surgical mask).a challenge was keeping the paint in the line and how i overcame it was just tried my best.what i legend from this artwork is creativity in your own way.what i want people to know about this art is to expand your creativity and imagination.

My favorite shoes ever!!

In my artwork I used pencil and markers. The due date to this assignment inspired me to create this artwork. My only challenge that I had was when I thought it was ugly but it turns out it was never ugly, I learned to never create a shoe again but I also had fun with it. I think I would want people to know that this is tough times and kids my age should follow instructions

Shoe Design

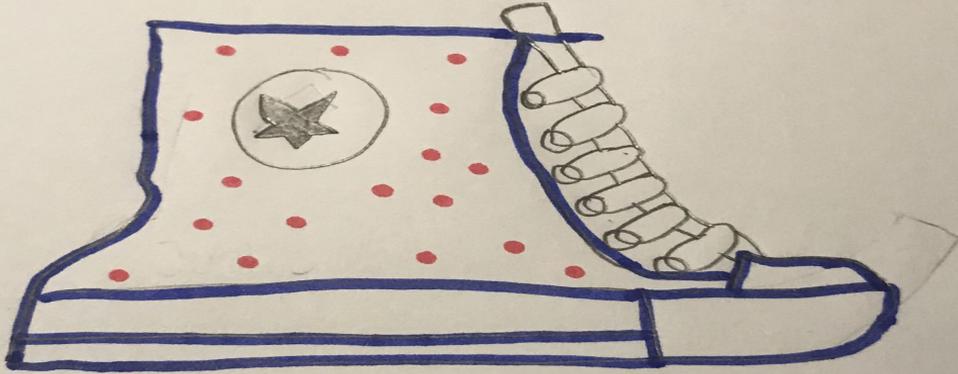

The materials I used to create this artwork was pencil, a black sharpie, oil pastels, and color pencils. A challenge was using two different shades of oil pastels. After using the sharpie to outline my work, I went over it with a black oil pastel. I made a mistake and marked the paper. Then I erased the black oil pastel but it smudged a bit near the purple and black. I want people to know my artwork is different. I want them to know that whenever I am given a choice on how I am going to do something, I'm going to think outside of the box and do something that I doubt anyone else may do.

By: Juah-

I used a pencil and a sharpie. I was inspired because these are my favorite shoes. The hard part was trying to outline the strings. I learned how to create shoes in different ways.

Juah A.
Team Staha

For starters I used My notebook to start drawing and outlining my drawing. After I felt like I finished my drawing I outlined it with a Sharpie. I also used a white eraser to take away my mistakes. I used some sources from the interact to use just to give me an idea on what to do. And finally I will be using marker and color pencils to color my drawing.

Rainbow Converse

I used a pencil, black sharpie, and colored pencils. I saw a video of Converse shoes and decided to draw it. A challenge was drawing the shoe, I overcame it by trying my best. From creating this artwork I learned that art is actually fun to do. My artwork reminds me of my life when I was younger. When I was younger I had a lot of Converse. Everywhere I went I had Converse. I like the style of Converse. You can never go wrong with Converse.

This is a shoe I made. I had some challenges but I overcame it. This work is inspired from one of the kpop groups I follow. I made this shoe dedicated to them and no one else. This kpop group means everything to me so i decided to make this about them. If you see closely I put their name and the logo with the shoe.

In my art work i use paper and paint and makers, this was made because I need a grade for art class. I had to overcome nothing. I haven't learned anything either.

I used colored pencils for my shoes and the design. Colors that are usually used to describe the temperature of an item or anything. I somehow did not find a challenge with this piece of art, the idea came straight to me out of nowhere. I learned that not all sports shoes are considered cool as you draw them and you can also try new things .I want people to know your shoes do not always have to be used for a sport to look cool, multiple ideas and choices can seem cool but you have to make sure you enjoy it and not everyone else instead.

Michael J.
Team Staha

I used a marker what inspired me was the death of kobe so used purple the lakers colors i was pretty easy and i think my best yet i want people it know that i make art about what is going on in the world or around me.

Maryam S.
Team Staha

Some materials I used for this project were colored pencils, a sharpie, and a pencil. My inspiration for creating this artwork was the love I have for comme des garcon shoes. A challenge with this artwork was trying to get the lines straight on the shoe. Rewatching and hard work I eventually got the lines straight and the shoe came out OKAY. I want people to know it's not pretty good the first time or even the second time but it's always good to try.

Name Design

Our Scholars created name designs using a reflection technique with oil pastels, markers, or colored pencils. Some Scholars used the digital app wordart.com to create their name design.

The Donut

I used pencils, pens, colored pencils, a staple and markers. I used videos from youtube to start my drawing off and freestyled after. What inspired me to do the artwork was that today I got donuts from my grandad and thought I should do my name in bubble donuts. I really did not learn anything from my drawing. It was just a fun and easy thing to do I guess. I want people to know that I tried my best even though I thought I could not do it at all.

Olivia A.

Team Staha

I used my sketch book, a pencil, and colored pencils. I looked up One Point Perspective Name Designs on google and I saw some really good designs which inspired me to make one of my own similar. Something that was a challenge for me was the lines but I overcame it by taking my time and not messing up. I learned how to make my own One Point Perspective Name Design. I want people to know that my work didn't take too long and that I worked really hard and I picked wisely with my colors.

I used to complete the artwork was paint, pencil, and Sharpie. What inspired me to create this artwork is my past artwork. A challenge I had making this artwork is keeping the paint inside the line. Name - Government

For this project I used a pencil to sketch out my name and I traced it with a sharpie (the thick one) and then I colored it with markers. Something that inspired me to create this was my name. I like my name even though it is a little different.

Something that was a bit of a challenge was trying to involve both of my middle names. Something that I learned was that doing 3D letters is kind of hard.

Something I think people should know about my artwork is that it is a representation of my name and how proud I am to have this name.

Nathaniel Adonis P.
Team Staha

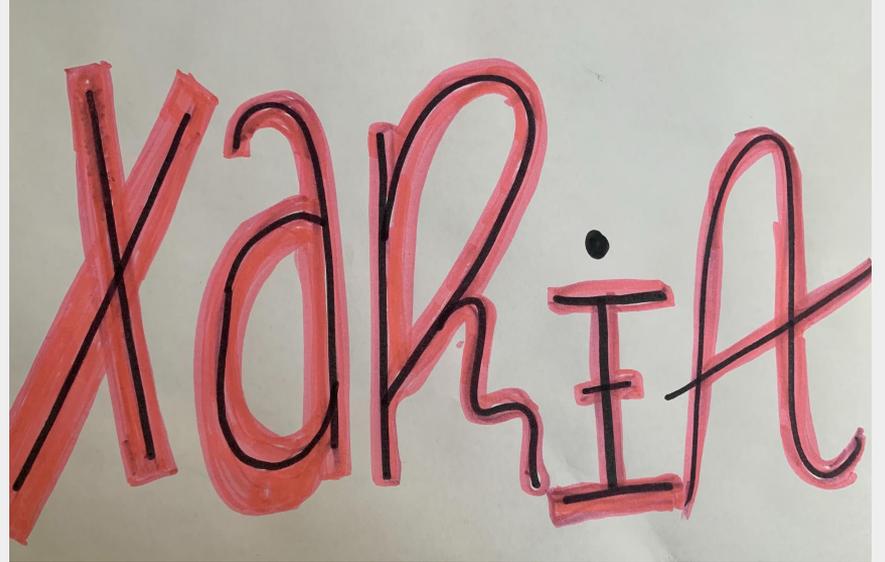

For this assignment I used prismacolor pencils. I love my name but feel like it would be cool to have a change. 2 years ago or sort of in 5th grade I made a name design for my first name. I represented my love for anime in that photo. This year I expressed my love for my middle name. I got the font and idea from the definition behind my name. It was the greek god Adonis's name. He was the god of beauty and productiveness. I added roses for the aesthetic and my passion for them. Over all I really love my finished product and i hope you do to

One Point Perspective Name Design

Materials I used were Black & Pink Markers and Paper. What inspired me to create this artwork was the materials I had nearby. I looked around and I thought for a few, “What 2 simple colors will look great together?”. Immediately I thought of Black and then I looked down and I saw pink first. I didn’t have any mistakes making this. It all came out exactly as planned.

One Point Name Perspective

For this artwork, I used a sketchpad, a ruler, an eraser, a pencil, a thin tipped marker and colored pencils. What inspired me to do this artwork was the examples used from my upperclassmen. This artwork was quite a challenge but I managed to pull through and get it over with. From creating this artwork, I learned how to draw things from a one point perspective.

Ayman Z.
Team Staha

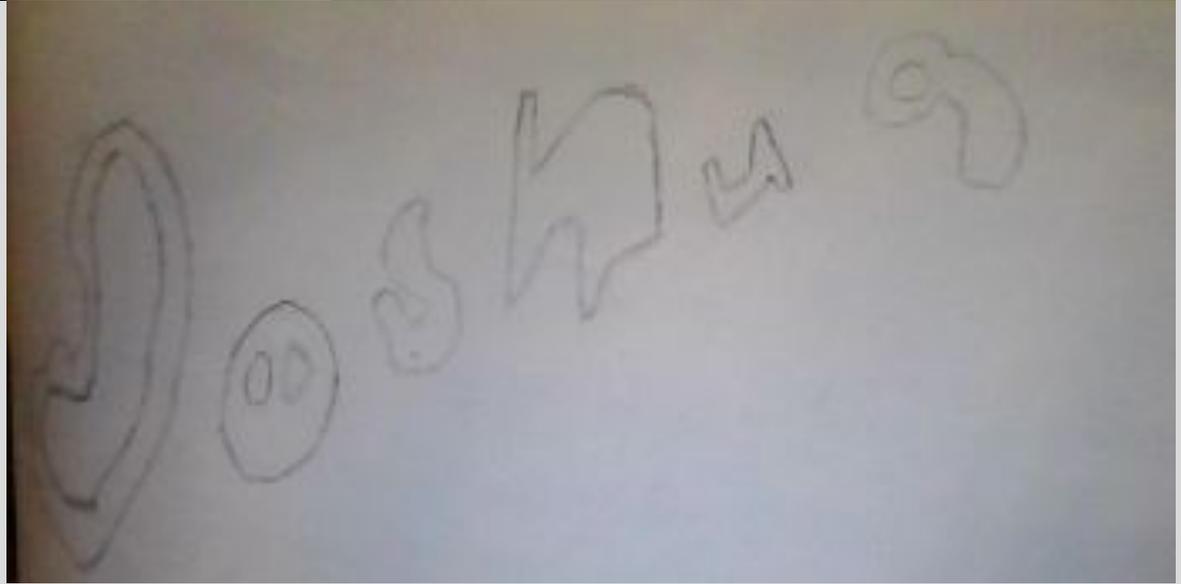

The only material I decided to use was a pencil and eraser, to quickly fix any mistakes I might have made. Mrs. Howard's great examples and videos she had given in the google classroom inspired me. The way the letters and the view looked amazed me very much so I tried myself. The only thing challenging was making sure I drew straight lines and made it from my letter and center of my page correctly. I learned that not all physical help is the best to use, one simple youtube video helped me successfully make my one-point perspective name easily. I would like people to know that a straight line and the sizing of a object can be very important with the art you make.

This artwork is important because I spent hours working on this. I want people to know that it is not the best artwork. I want people to know that this is not as easy to make. This is way harder than what it looks like.

Shayanna R.

I used a colored pencils i was inspired how this year when fast and the seasons it was kinda hard blending it so rubbed it with my hands how to use tour hand or finger to help your artwork blend in it is about how if feel and the things that are going around me

The One point perspective was quite hard to draw although i had a lot of fun doing it. The challenge was to try and put my name in a one point perspective. I did my best but i felt like i could do more.

Mohamed B.
Team Staha

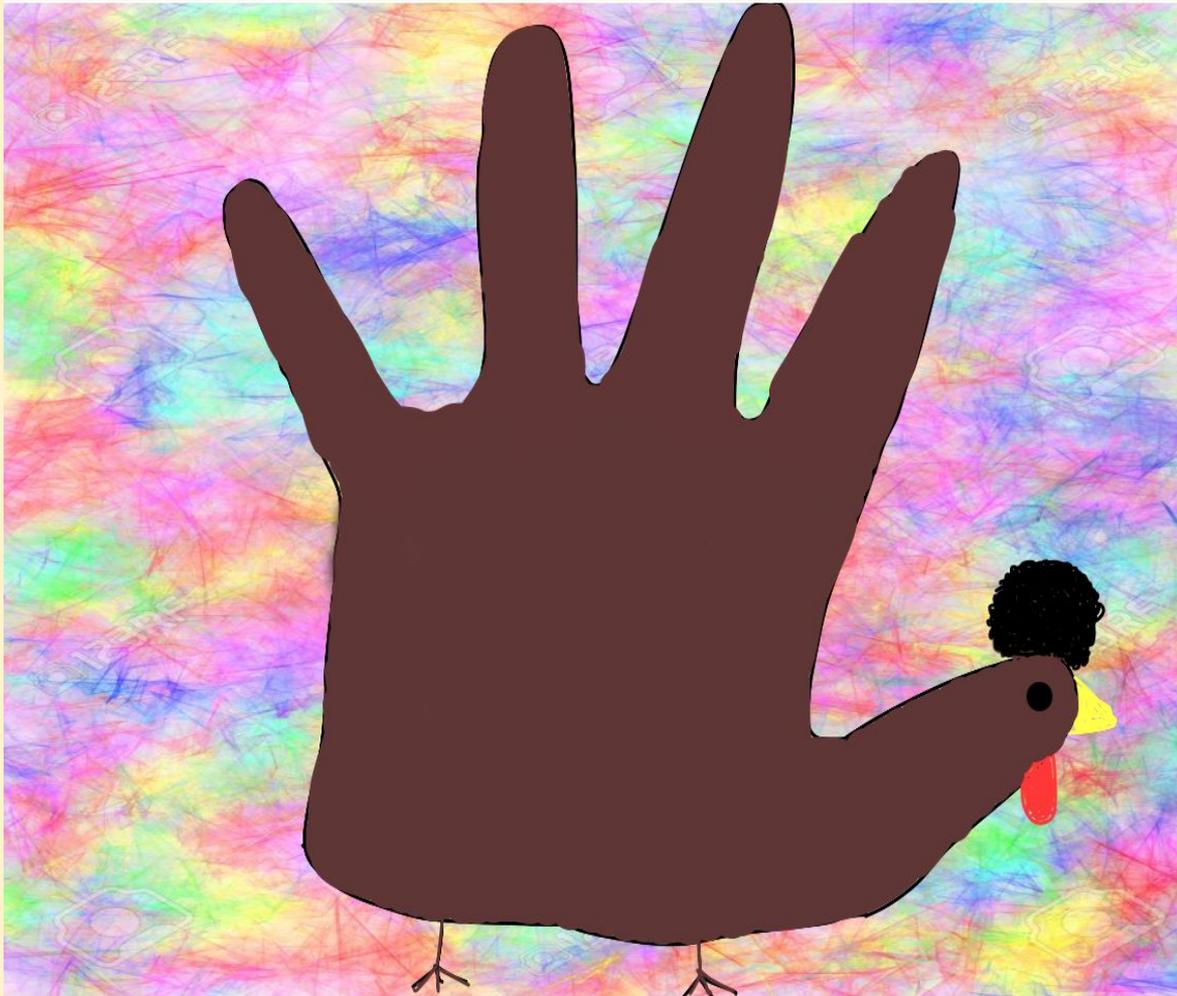

I used paint, my finger, color pencils, markers, and a sharpie to complete this artwork.. What inspired me was an art picture I saw. The challenge I had to face was was keeping up with the paint mess. What I learned was that you can use all types of color for any art.. What i want people to know is that you can do anything with your imagination.

Hauwa A.

My turkey was made out of colored pencils, paint, marker and pencils. I got my creation from youtube and google and got a little creatively.

Olivia A.
Team Staha

I used a sketchpad on my computer. I was on the Internet and I saw color turkey handprints with nice backgrounds which inspired me to make this artwork. A challenge that I had making this artwork was the hand but I overcame it by not giving up and trying my best. I learned how to make a Turkey hand online. I want people to know that this took a lot of dedication and it took a long time.

Alexis D.
Team Staha

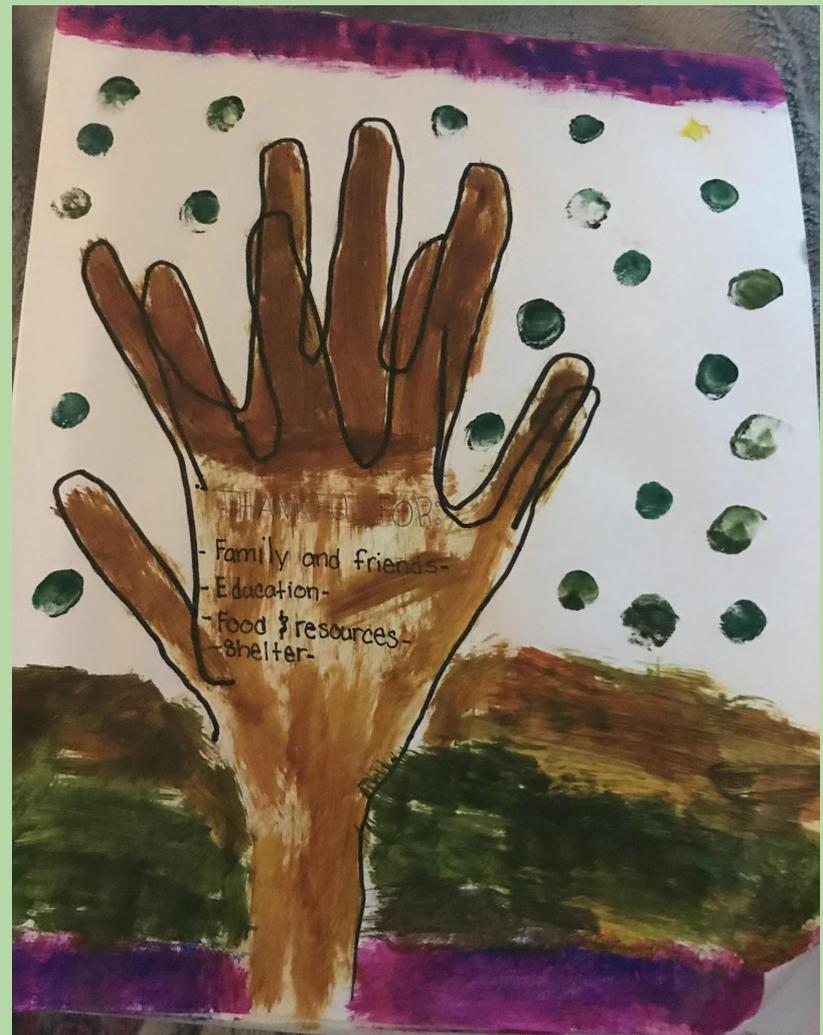

I used sharpie marker. I had seen a photo on pinterest of a swan and it had inspired me to do this artwork. The challenge was getting the things right and going over it with a sharpie marker. I learned that you can turn an ordinary picture into a cute fun project. I want people to know that I am creative and I can see many things in ordinary pieces and more.

Maryam S.
Team Staha

I used paint and markers along with pencil and sharpies. The meaning of my project is for what I am Thankful for in life. It also means how Thanksgiving is really soon.

Juah A.
Team Staha

The materials I used for my turkey were, pencils, markers, and colored pencils. One thing that inspired me was trying to challenge myself, I took a minute or less to find and materials I needed and used whatever I had, this helped me become more creative and open minded to all new ideas. I learned that even though you might not consider yourself an artist or good at art you can proceed and grow into it. I would like people to know that using what you have should not be a struggle moment but, a very high peek in your art career.

Michael J.
Team Staha

Hello today i will be talking about this artwork that I did for this week's assignment. The point of the assignment was to outline your hand and make something cool out of it. I decided to draw kind of like an x-ray type of effect where the bones are blue and the outline of the skin is red so you can tell. And I don't really know why but I just decided to add a rose It really adds effect to the drawing.

Nathaniel P.

Turkey Hand

Materials I used were my hand, orange, brown, black, yellow, & green Markers and Paper. What inspired me to create this artwork was the colors that are considered “Thanksgiving Themed”. Instantly, I thought of Brown, Yellow, Orange and Green. I could have used red but I didn’t want to be so traditional. This wasn’t my best turkey hand but I’m proud of the outcome.

Xaria P.

I made this picture because I saw a picture of it and I had to try it even though I had to overcome some challenges I kept on pushing and never gave up. This turkey means that you should go and thank and be grateful for the people in your life.

Optical Illusions

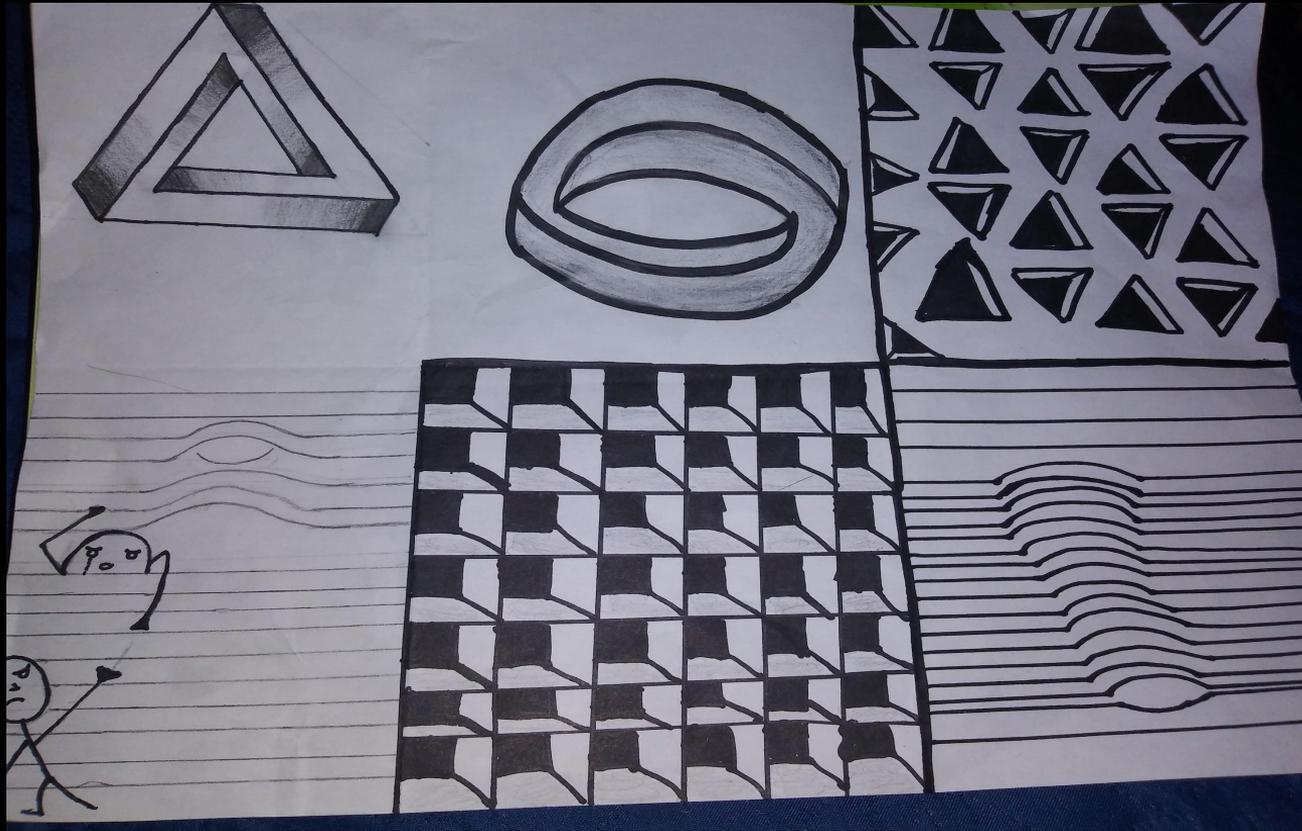

Scholars learned how to draw 3-D artwork to create optical illusions.

Optical Illusions - Family Illusions

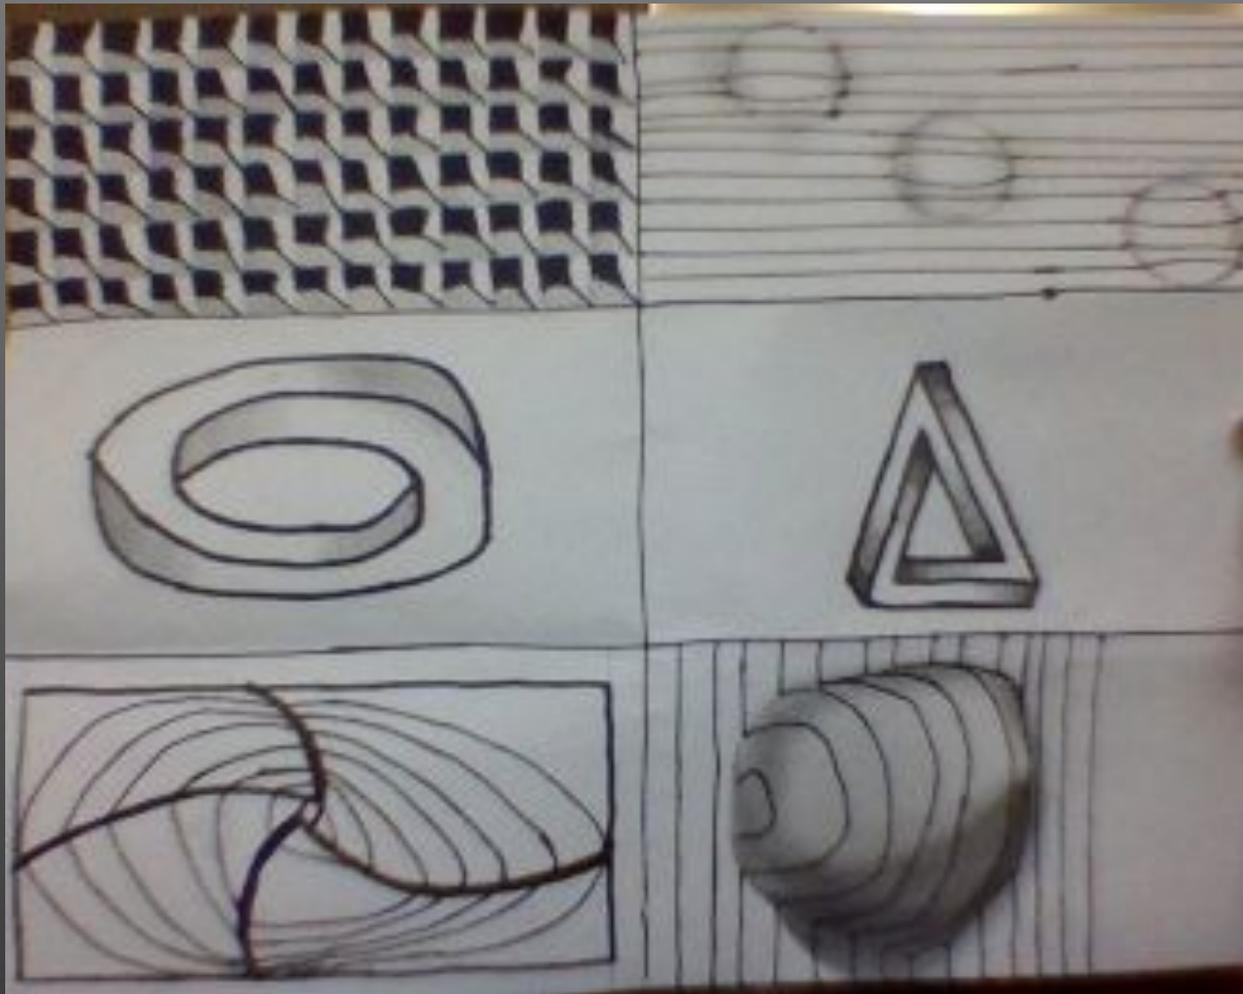

For this assignment I just used my pencil to sketch and my thin and thick sharpie to outline. Something that inspired me was when I was younger I would watch these satisfying videos and they would draw all of these cool illusions. A challenge was the shading and also make sure the objects were facing the right. Something I learned is that there are different ways to look at things and it makes it look better depending on the angle you are at. Something I want people to know about this is that it is called family illusions because every illusion is dedicated to a certain family member.

Alisha L. Team Staha

I used pencils, sharpies and erasers for my supplies. My artwork was inspired by Illusion art. A challenge was trying to trace my artwork with the sharpie without messing it up. I learned that art takes time and precision.

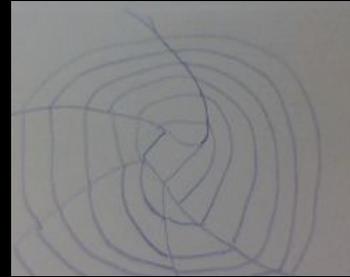

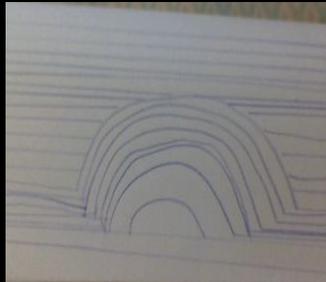

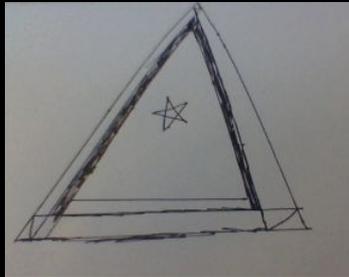

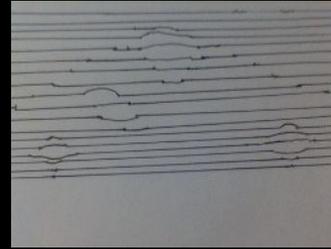

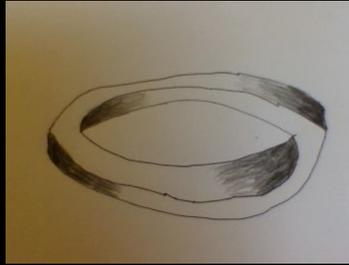

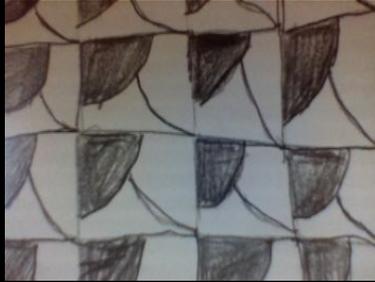

Olivia A.
Team Staha.

Optical Illusions

The materials I used for my artwork were, several pencils, two sharpies, an eraser, a ruler, a napkin, and a paper. The videos I found on youtube inspired me to create this artwork. A challenge I had was drawing the lines and curves properly. I learned about shading from this artwork. This artwork was pretty difficult but once you see the instructions it will become very easy for you.

Ayla R.
Team Staha

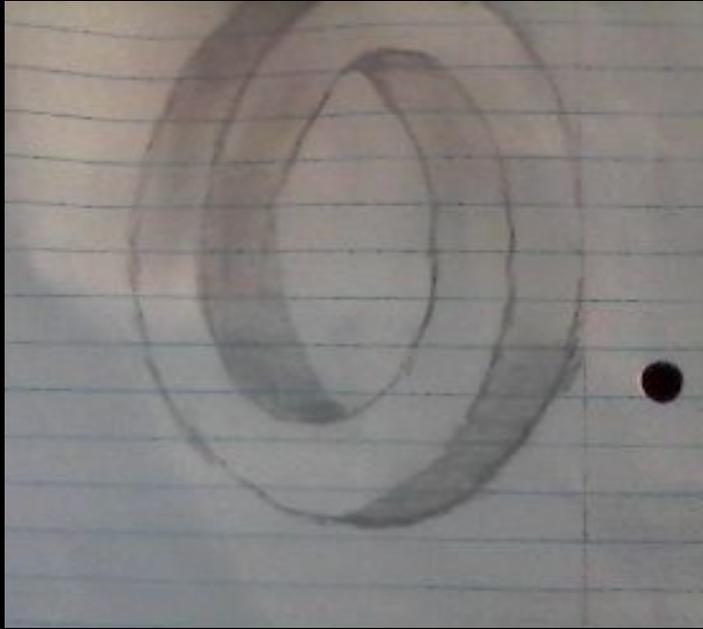

I used a black color pencil. The challenge that I had with this piece of art was me thinking at first that it was not going to look good. I learned that anyone can create anything. I love the my art work can show that to others. I want people to know that I work hard on my work so even if you do not like it I would love for you to see it.

Natalia N. Team Staha

I made a drawing because i saw it on youtube and i thought it would be really cool even though i had to overcome some challenges i did not give up.

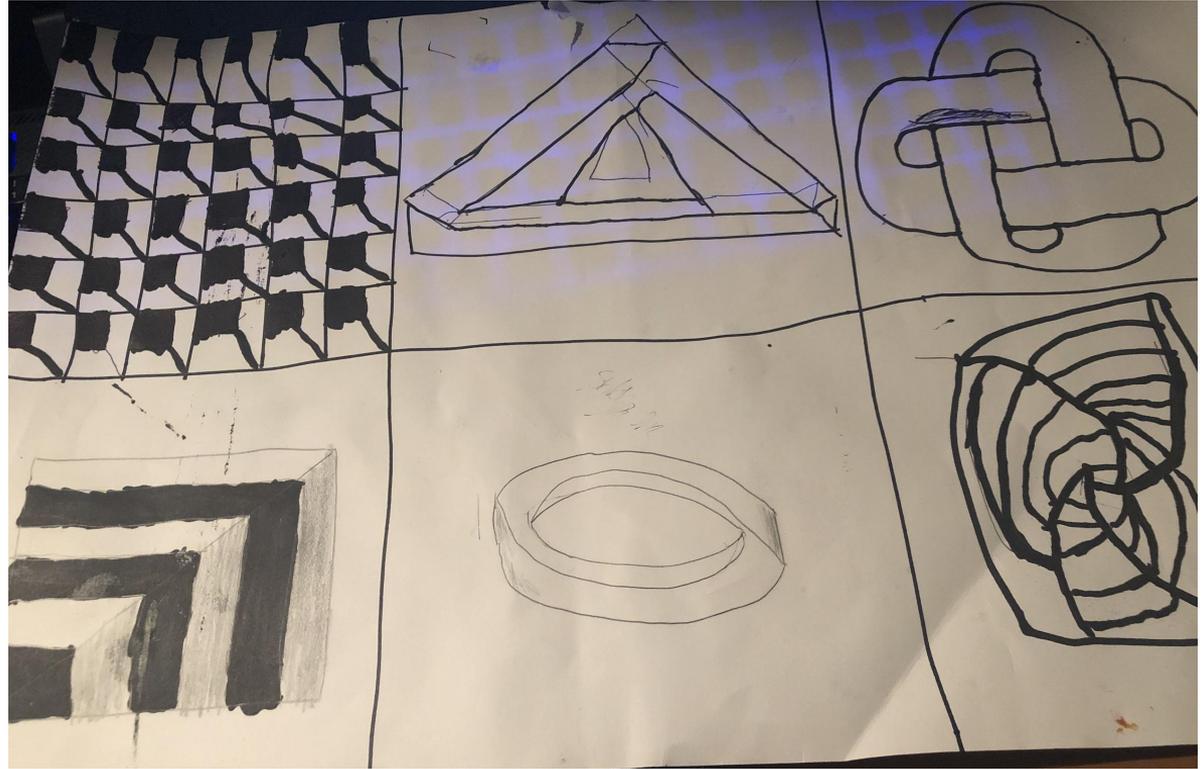

Goodness M.

I used a Pencil and a Piece of paper to start, The inspiration I got was from the video I thought that would have been hard even though it's simple. There was no challenge as the video said all it needed, I learnt How to make impossible shapes and will make more in the future.

Mohamed B.
Team Staha

The materials used for my optical illusions were pencils, pens, sharpies, youtube, and great examples from Mrs.Howard. To create this artwork I had to be patient and follow along with the directions at a past that was fast enough for me to not get confused. One challenge I had while completing this artwork was trying not to get confused while watching the video's with optical illusion tutorials which guided me through the process. One thing I learned is how much being focused and taking time can support you while you complete a certain task you might find yourself being challenged with. I would like to let any and everyone know that you should also add what you think will look good in an optical illusion even if it does now look like the example but instead the way you like it.

Michael J.
Team Staha

The only material I used to create these illusions was a pencil. What inspired me to create this artwork was the creativity and how cool it looked. I learned how to create different illusions. One challenge was getting the curves and lines to be straight and neat. I want people to know that the illusions didn't come out good the first time, it was actually hard. So anyone can make these.

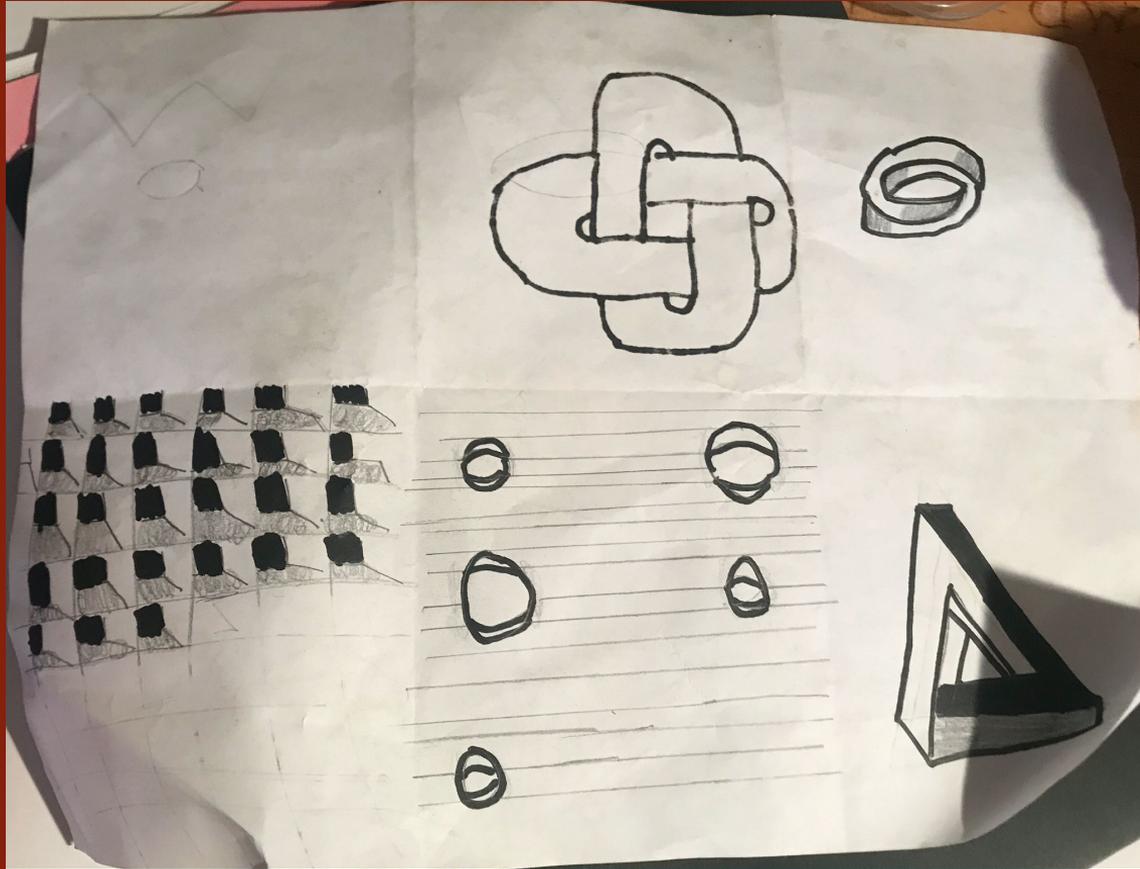

Kenadi S.

Team Staha

I used pencils to shade and I watched the video to get instructions and to learn how to shade. The challenge was shading in the paper and how to see many things in an artwork what you can see more than one thing on a paper. And Mrs. Howard had helped me after school.

Adinkra Cloth

Scholars learned about the Adinkra cloth (African cloth printing tradition from pre-Colonial origin). They created their own stamps and printed on paper and fabric using acrylic paint.

The materials that I have used were black and blue paint, cardboard and paper. The pretty colors are what has inspired me to do my artwork. One challenge that I had was thinking that my artwork was gonna be ugly. I thought this artwork was gonna be ugly because I have never used paint before. I want people to know that I worked hard on my artwork and I wouldn't change it for the world.

Natalia N.
Team Staha

My art work took practice and precision. I used paint and maker and a white paper and a fork to organize and practice on. I used paint and a cloth and a fork and some paint brushes to do the artwork on, what inspired me to do this kind of art was the culture behind it, not just the way it looks. The challenge was trying to paint with a fork. What I learned about my artwork was the culture.

Olivia A.

Adinkra Cloth

Materials I used were a black markers, a ruler, and paper. Creating this took patience! The patience to try and redo and revise! Even though this isn't perfect it was fine with me. It was also better than some of my drafts. I had to perfectly measure the squares in order to have perfect and equal symbols! In the end, it's good and meets standards.

For this project I used the cardboard provided by the school I also used foam stickers that I had at home and I stuck them onto the cardboard and I painted it so I could use it as a stamp on my cloth and I used glitter on top of some of the stamps. Something that inspired me to make this was Christmas because the stickers are christmas stickers with trees and reindeers etc. A challenge was trying to get the print of just the shape instead of all the background but I fixed it by adding the glitter on top. I learned that art is hard but it is always worth it. I want people to know that there is always a way to figure something out.

I used paint and markers, I was inspired to create this artwork because I am also Ghanaian, Liberian, and Togolese. I learned different ways to create artwork. I want people to see the different way and drawings you can do to make this artwork piece.

The materials I used were paint and paintbrushes, sharpie, and a few youtube videos. My inspiration for this artwork was my art teacher Mrs.Howard and a few youtube videos. The only challenge I faced was trying to keep the lines straight and not so chunky so the lines could stay separated. One thing I learned from creating my cloth was to take risks and look to substitute things you maybe could have not fixed. I would like to let people know take risk and try new things if you can't do the correct way as best as possible.

The Birds with one Feather Flock Together

All I used for my two birds were a sharpie and a white piece of paper. I wanted to create this piece of artwork with no challenge but one challenge I did face were the wings and their shaping. I simply moved the scissors in the most comfortable way possible and waited to see how the wings would come out. One thing I learned is having a random body of art to work with you should make the best of it and see what new things you can learn. I want people to know very small and simple things turn about to be beautiful.

Something that inspired me to make this is how much I love winter break. A challenge that I had making this artwork was trying to find the right pictures to describe my awesome winter break. Something I learned from creating this project is that you can still have fun while working hard. something I want people to know about this is that you can have a lot of fun with your family if you put your mind to it and just relax.

Smurf Mask

I used my paper mask, blue paint, paper, and a black sharpie. I was inspired to create this artwork because I was looking up cartoon characters and I saw the Smurfs so I decided to do that. The challenge was painting the paper mask but I overcame it by taking my time. I learned how to make my own mask. I want people to know that my artwork didn't take too long and it wasn't hard.

The Mask

I used my paint colors. The biggest challenge I had with this artwork is the stapling part. I learned how to create a mask which is something I didn't know how to do before. I want people to know how fun and exciting it is to make a mask.

Simple Dotted Mask

I used blue, white, red, and black acrylic paint. A video that I saw on youtube about african masks inspired me. A challenge I had was picking the right colors. I learned that I can kind of paint. What I want people to know about my work is that I tried my best. I want people to know that african culture is very interesting and fun.

I used pain, mask, and some tissue paper. The pretty colors inspired me to create this artwork.

Something that was a big challenge was that I did not know what to do with my mask for about two days and that really slowed me down alot. I learned that you can create anything with just a little of supplies. I want people to know that I work hard on your artwork and I will never change that.

Mask

The name of this creation is an abstract emoji mask. Materials I used were paint, a ruler, and paper. It took a lot of patients and ability to try, in order to create this. Even though this isn't perfect, I think the title goes well. In the end, I think it's good and it looks okay.

Hatitan Mask

I used markers and paints to do the mask. The idea of my mask came from a culture idea I got when My sister was doing a project about her culture. The challenge was painting it perfectly and not making mistakes.

The materials i used for this project was [Black paint, White paint, And a mask].The one thing that inspired me was that i like to splatter paint so i used splatter paint to create this masterpiece. One challenge that i faced making this was what to use to splatter with. I was thinking of using my fingers but then i thought of using the paint brush which was smarter but I didn't get the splatter i wanted. I learned that anything is possible once you put your mind to it. I want people to know my craze about SPLATTER PAINT

Assemblage

Scholars created sculptures using recycled materials.

Wire Pieces

For this artwork, we were assigned to create anything out of the wires we had. I found myself lacking creativity. So I decided to just make my hands move by itself and I ended up with this. But the outer wraps were hard and took a little time. But at the end of the day, I was still kind-of proud of it.

'19'

I used wire to do my project. What inspired me to create this artwork was because my birthday is on the 19 of september so 19 is like a lucky number to me. The challenge was choosing what to do but I would go for something simple so I did this. I learn to not underestimate the power of art. It's hard but fun most times.

Recyclable Sculpture

For this artwork, the materials I used are a cardboard box from Crafts Mac&Cheese, a black sharpie, a yellow marker and extra pieces of wire. To be honest, I was just having problems figuring out what to make and the first thing that came to mind was a butterfly. But, the butterfly ended up shaping more like a bee so I just went along with it. A challenge I had making this project was having it stick together, but I just put some glue on it and made it work.

Simplien

The materials I used to make my small alien were sharpies, markers, toilet paper rolls and a tissue. My inspiration for this artwork was Mrs. Howard and her example of the alien, I enjoyed the small legs it had. The Biggest challenge I faced was over thinking of how I didn't want to cut uneven pieces and have the alien not able to stand, but whacky and differently shaped legs made the alien look better so I stuck to that idea.. I learned that a recyclable can really become a great art piece as long as you work hard enough.

Plain Paper Assemblage Sculpture

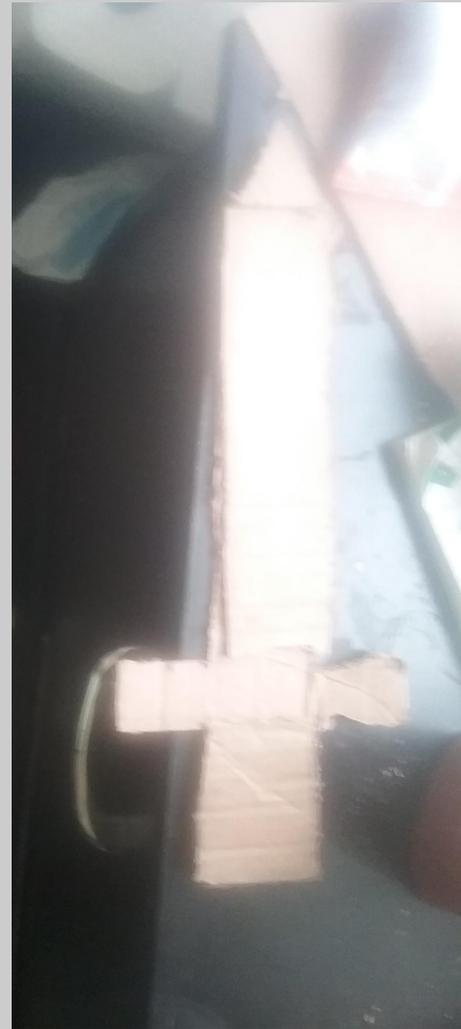

The materials I used to create my artwork are cardboard, glue, white paper, and scissors. I was inspired by the paper assemblage sculpture on the google slide attached to this assignment. The challenge was gluing the paper shapes. I learned how to create my own Assemblage Sculpture and creating different paper structures. I want people to that my artwork is plain because that's the look I was going for and it didn't take a lot of time.

Assemblage Sculpture

Materials I used were post-it notes, glue, crayons and an empty water bottle. I learned to not put glue on the sticky part because it would most likely be harder to stick to the water bottle. I scribbled on the post-it with a blue crayon before applying it to the water bottle. I used a blue crayon because water is usually clear but portrayed to be blue. This was not my best creation BUT I had to use recyclable items, and I did succeed when it came to following the directions.

Final Sketch

For this artwork I thought I could just do anything I wanted, so I decided a decent sketch of a guitar would be nice. The materials I used were my arts sketchbook, a thin pointed marker and a pencil. The hard part about this piece was drawing the strings. It was difficult to make sure the strings weren't touching each other but I was able to make it work.

New Beginnings

I used paint, paper, and pencils for my out line. These pretty colors inspired me to create this one of a kind artwork. Something that was a challenge for me was starting late because I didn't have much time and also didn't know what to do. I learned to stop waiting to finish my work late. I want people to know that I spent time on this and I really like it.

Yin Yang Sun & Moon Drawing

I used a pencil, my sketchbook, and a black sharpie marker. I was inspired to create this artwork because I was on Youtube looking for things to draw and I saw a Yin Yang with a Sun & a Moon. The challenge was drawing a perfect circle and I overcame it by trying. I learned how to make my own Yin Yang drawing. I want people to know that my drawing was simple and easy.

Painting

Materials I used were acrylic paint, a canvas, a ruler, and paint brushes. ``I learned many things when it came to painting a specific picture on a canvas. Measurements, sizes, colors, and many other things played a part when creating this. I created this during my Quarter Two elective class, Canvas Painting. It took a lot to create this, time and hope, that it would turn out at least similar to what the model was and I guess it did. If I was to re-do this I think I'd do way better after, this ... trial and error painting.
